India was ranked as Virginia's third largest export partner in 2023, with $1.8B in exports. India is the world's largest democracy, and according to U.N. estimates, its population is expected to overtake China's in 2028 to become the world's most populous nation. India offers significant opportunities for Virginia companies. Successfully exporting to India requires a long-term planning horizon and a state-by-state strategy to adapt to the complexity and diversity of India's regional markets. To succeed in India, U.S. companies often find that having local partners is exceedingly helpful.

The following sectors provide growth opportunities for Virginia companies in the Indian market:

- Aerospace and Defense
- Chemicals
- Education Services
- Environmental Technology
- Healthcare and Life Science
- Information and Communications/Digital Technology
- Renewable Energy
- Safety and Security

This was hugely beneficial to us and we would not have been able to gain or afford access to Indian government customers and integrators without the trade mission. I cannot overstate how valuable this program is to our ability to enter new markets globally.
